Independence
Title

A group of five diverse children are walking across a wooden bridge in a park. From left to right: a boy with curly hair in a green and white striped shirt, a boy with glasses in a blue and white long-sleeved shirt, a girl in a blue denim jacket, a girl with a large afro in a red and white plaid shirt, and a boy in a blue plaid shirt. They are all walking away from the camera towards a dense forest. The scene is brightly lit with sunlight filtering through the trees.

TOP 10 QUESTIONS YOU SHOULD ASK WHEN CHOOSING A CAMP

When selecting a camp, it's essential to ask the right questions to ensure it's a good fit for your child and your family's expectations. Here are ten key questions to guide your decision:

WHAT IS THE CAMP'S PHILOSOPHY?

Does the camp's mission and values align with your parenting style and your child's temperament? Consider whether the camp emphasizes competition or cooperation. If the camp is faith-based, ask about the religious practices or observances included in the program.

HOW ARE STAFF RECRUITED, SCREENED, AND TRAINED?

Understanding the camp's hiring process is crucial. Do counselors undergo criminal background checks? Is first aid or other safety training required to ensure the well-being of campers?

WHAT ARE THE RETURN RATES FOR STAFF AND CAMPERS?

Inquire about how many counselors return each year. The American Camp Association (ACA) states that 40-60% staff retention is typical, so if the number is lower, ask for an explanation. Additionally, ask about camper return rates; 50% is considered good, and higher rates are even better.

WHAT IS THE COUNSELOR-TO-CAMPER RATIO?

Ask about the ratio of counselors to campers to ensure your child will receive adequate attention. For overnight camps, the ACA recommends a ratio of 1:6 for ages 7-8, 1:8 for ages 9-14, and 1:10 for ages 15-18. For day camps, the recommended ratios are 1:8 for ages 6-8, 1:10 for ages 9-14, and 1:12 for ages 15-18.

WHAT ARE THE COUNSELORS' AGES?

Find out how old the counselors are. The ACA suggests that 80% of staff should be 18 or older, with all counselors being at least 16 and at least two years older than the campers they supervise.

WHAT MEDICAL SUPPORT IS AVAILABLE?

Ask about the medical staff onsite and the backup facilities nearby. For overnight camps, the ACA recommends having a licensed physician or registered nurse present every day. If your child has specific medical needs, such as medication management, food allergies, or chronic conditions, confirm that the camp can accommodate these needs.

HOW DOES THE CAMP HANDLE DISCIPLINE AND CONFLICTS?

Understanding the camp's approach to discipline is vital. Ask about the camp's rules and how they are enforced. Find out what behaviors might result in a camper being sent home, and ensure the camp's practices align with your parenting philosophy.

WHAT DOES A TYPICAL DAY LOOK LIKE?

Request details about the camp's daily schedule. This will help you determine whether the level of physical activity or time spent on arts and crafts matches your child's interests. Also, ask how much freedom campers have to choose their activities.

WILL THE CAMP TRANSPORT THE CHILDREN?

If the camp involves transportation, ask what vehicles are used and how often they are inspected. Find out who the drivers are and what training they have received to ensure your child's safety during transit.

CAN I SPEAK WITH REFERENCES?

Finally, ask for references from parents of children around your child's Age who have attended the camp. Speaking with other parents can provide valuable insight into their experience and help you make an informed decision.
